i feel like i've been waiting months and miles seem to stretch unfulfilled senses
i will wallow in the memory a slowly ticking time bomb you've been away for so long i wish these lakes would dry and shift to shapes i recognize
hold on, just wait
it's not that far away
hold on, just wait
maybe i'll see you tomorrow
month and miles seem to stretch justify an absence with a longing to be missed pictures speak a million words but never answer in return how is it i still feel you long after you've left?

hold on, just wait
it's not that far away
hold on, just wait
can you hear me now? this phone line's giving out stay up and want to hear you say you'll do whatever it takes
hold on, just wait
it's not that far away
hold on, just wait
