I see your heart beat through the bedsheets
I feel your pulse against the floor
I sleep the sadness that no one else sleeps Feel me cunningly adore.

As the tic tock clock lies Goldilocks
What a sick enchanted view Of the white blot sin that we all began not the girl that I once knew.

Blue Sunshine
Ive got no vacancies

At the top of the clock was Jesus spying on me
I spoke of friends
point me which direction
I tried a bribe of when I die but swore he never mentioned.

I kicked and screamed,
"Its simple, you must sing the day I take you, youll be sleeping you wont feel a thing."
