Reaching out to save you
Arms across the shore
Holding on to something
With a reason that's long gone before
The search is back on again
I offer my call
Near or far
I should have known
You'd go
Right from the start
Don't know where you are
Don't know where you've gone
Waking up the morning
Chasing you away
The sun is vapourising
Every moment I'm longing to save
(For you) The search is back on again
You captured my thought
Near or far
I should have known
You'd go
Right from the start
Don't know where you are
Don't know where you've gone
