(Spoken Word)

Learning to love life by living through loss
and mistakes,

Lessons Learned then gradually surfacing/
letting go,

stripping naked to scream/
I am not perfect, nor do I strive to be/
I am alive in this world of face first falls and public breakdowns/
I'm a retarded dis figured clown, dying to be heard for the simple art of letting this heavy wall finally fall/
I'm an equal being of no race, or color, a hallucination
if you will/Sneaking into the the lives of strangers and letting them fall apart to a new rhythm/
Just to feel better.
