Did he really get to take you home?
I'm surprised that you chose him.
I'm surprised that i'm not in a halfway home I'm not surprised i never saw you alone when they brought me home. so who does this separation work for?
so which one of us could wage one more it's not about the feelings that we shared before, no cuz your words don't calm anymore no more, what did you want me for?

how do you call, what we have love?
when you don't even notice
that look upon my face?
yeah i've done this before you'll be sorry when i'm gone yeah you waited too long.

and did you really think id take it with information fabricated? look i give you credit for pathetically thinking that you could make this up.
watch this she turns about face He stays in a house in vegas place helpless you know that im away In my truck sitting in a hotel crazy That guy on the phone, breaking records telling me there's something wrong already, don't I need to know ?

yeah i've done this before
(x2)

this is urgent call them emergencies i don't know how to stop them woke up gun and a pistol you fill your clip with lies then load each one and fire right over my head i need a finish line this pressures too hard i should've seen the end was coming sooner than I ever did reached down in the pit of my soul i felt things that i didn't want to know were there i guess the waiting is over

how do you call, what we have love?
(x2)
