"Bitter Fruit"

I have made so many mistakes
That now I live on a street called shame

But the sins are the sweetest part
Now no one's left to blame
And I found out that I have a taste
For the bitter fruit of life
All through this night
The choices are made
A cold wind blows
The stories are told

But your memory lingers on my breath
Like a song that burns in my soul
And I found out that I have a taste
For the bitter fruit of life
Can you hear me now
I'm calling to you
Can you hear me now

I'm calling to you
Yes I'm calling to you
