Now that we're wasted
I see that wildness in your eyes
Talking disconnected
Like there's no tomorrow
You know you scare me sometimes
Proud and hollow

That makes a man
Is it fear or courage
Live so close to the edge
Nothing in this world is
He finds no comfort in the other
Any use to you
Into my drunken head
And I know you won't remember
Except these songs you sing
A word of this tomorrow

When will you rage again
Or is it enough
Just getting out of your head
Night after night
Or are you running scared
Or you just don't care
Or are you waiting for
That one high and holy sign
To shine a light on you
And pull you through
To the silent true

You say you're gonna put your
Just got to find a drummer
Who understands
We sit in the corner
Old band back together again
People stop to say hi
You say fuck off and die
And I feel like the lucky one

Six pints into this night
And you're just starting

To hit your stride
As you heap abuse
They're all posers or freaks
On every passerby
You say that you and I are
The only two in this bar
That know what it takes

Or is it enough
When will you rage again
Night after night
Or you just don't care
To shine a light on you
Pull you through
Shine a light on you
To that one high and holy sign
