Each time I hear the music play
it makes me feel that way.
The memories we once shared come back inside me

And when I hear that same old song throughout the whole night long, the pains that we've been through all fade away

Let me fly and I will reach way up high
I will climb the steps that lead to the sky where the clouds caress your face with my tears Let me try, I can fly

Let me hear the songs that I never played I will find the keys that open the gate of my dreams, which light the flame in my life, if they die, I can't fly

But when the music stops to play the thrill soon fades away Dark shadows from the past will haunt my day

Let me fly and I will reach way up high
I will climb the steps that lead to the sky

Till I die, let me fly
