I saw a hundred men laughing only two understanding
A wheel that was spinning for good and for evil
There was a church bell ringing but nobody listening Except the beggars in the doorways of designer perfection
There was a thin man collecting for a government problem
He spent a long time waiting with that look of disapproval
There was icicles forming in the agency windows but nothing for sale there Only dreamtime oblivion Ah - the mysteries that are discussed in the beds of the kings and queens
Ah - The misery well it brings you down like a recurring dream Ah - here on the diamond avenue (on the diamond avenue)
And there's a tightrop marriage between the doctor and the junkie
In daylight it's perfect but at night time it's frightening
The hospital was moved so the hotel could profit
But nobody stayed up there to curse it or to mock it As hi-fi condition arranged for my transport But there's nothing to hear except the sound of bloody progress
The buildings are blushing from the interest they're earning

But the tables and the chairs on the bombsites are burning Ah - the mysteries that are discussed in the beds of the
kings and queens
Ah - The misery well it brings you down like a recurring
dream
Ah - here on the diamond avenue (on the diamond
Let's have a look, what do you see I saw Thatcher and Murdoch those twins of confusing Pay Saatchi and Saatchi to keep up their little illusion
I saw pepsi and my hero both digging a goldmine It's funny how money can make you deaf as well as blind

kings and queens

Ah. The misery well it brings you down in a recurring
