"Good For Nothing"

He works so hard with no holidays but all his clothes are tailor-made his mother said son
"you've got it made"
"well you had it made"
"yesterday"
but now it's all for nothing
good for nothing

he goes to bed
with a lava lamp
beds full of books
hair still damp
his father said son
"do well at camp"
"you'll be a champ"
"not a tramp"
"not a good for nothing"
"all or nothing"

but I was a cocky sod and Johnny was a northern mod and we ruled the world
I wore a velvet cloak it looked like a fucking joke but it pulled the girls

I got a job on a market stall we sold Roxy Music
the one with Jerry Hall my stepfather said son
"you've got it all"
"so just have a ball"
"until you fall into nothing"
"it's good to be nothing" but I was a cheeky git and Johnny nearly had a fit when I stole his guitar I found a new place to stay and a hippy who could teach me to play so I could be a big star then I was on the BBC

Johnny looking that must be fun
I wore a tartan suit
I thought I looked pretty cute but now I think what a cunt!
