"The War Has Begun"

It's back on the streets setting on fire all that you have seen
Feeding the flames that will burn away all the hate that we breed
Take the ones you love and make them hide
Stop your ears and close your eyes to not face the tide
There is no one left to save, the war has begun
Memories left on the outside looking in (Watch your back 'cause you're alone, it's obvious Let the freezing sound of anger looking in) It's back on the streets wasting away all that you have built

What is the price what is the meaning for pride to shame losing everything?
So weak is the power of humankind
So blind is the anger to dominate what we should fear

There is no one left to save, the war has begun
Let the freezing sound of anger looking in
