Stand out
Because you blend in with the background
She wrote a rebellion
I know there's nothing here I can't live without it
Except you, my love
She will go on

Over my head
And you're over me again
And she fell
Over my head
And you're over me again

Shut up, it's the fairytales that save us
I don't believe either
It makes no sense to tell you that I love you
When your gone, your gone, and now your gone

Over my head
And you're over me again
And she fell
Over my head
And you're over me again

And now I see you right beside me
But you won't say my name
I'm sorry I failed you
When I was right beside you
And now you don't feel, you don't feel the same

Stand down
'Cause this is when I count you as part of the background
I will go on

Over my head
And you're over me again
And she fell
Over my head
And you're over me again

But I'm over you again
