You can shine your Cadillac
Another way
With the last drop
Of spit
That was left in my mouth
I was watchin all your tv shows the night I said goodbye
To the world I know

So raise your chin
And raise a glass
Say here's to winning this again and again
Say I don't care what it costs
Is this the wealth that sells the skin
I faced more lanes
We lose again and again
Say I don't care what it costs

You can dye your hair tonight
Another way
To much the color of
The ground
That I am buried in
I was reading all your magazines I have something
Until you took it from me

So raise your chin

And raise a glass
Say here's to winning this again and again
Say I don't care what it costs
Is this the wealth that sells the skin
I faced more lanes
We lose again and again
Say I don't care what it costs

Will you hang me
From you I might as well
Just because
God knows I have not
Been moving for three days now
Say I don't care what it costs

So raise your chin
And raise a glass
Say here's to winning this again and again
Say I don't care what it costs
Is this the wealth that sells the skin
I faced more lanes
We lose again and again
Say I don't care what it costs
