I ran away from you I
Took everything
Facing the day I turn my back just the way you showed me
I'd say I've changed for your right and you stay the same
I stepped away from you
I wont be coming back

I thought I told you, I don't need the headache
Why are you so pathetic, try,
And you just might get it
It's come to this end and now I'm sick of it,
I can't stand the habit,
You just can't have it
Maybe you'll find it's come to it's end
And now I'm sick of it

You're getting sick of this life faceing the truth Chasin the lies you live by wont be something new to you,
I haven't spoke of bad times
I have no use
Erase the memories it's something I must do

I thought I told you, I don't need the headache
Why are you so pathetic, try,
And you just might get it
It's come to this end and now I'm sick of it,
I can't stand the habit,
You just can't have it
Maybe you'll find it's come to it's end
And now I'm sick of it

Nothing around you
Nothing to say
Nothing involving you concerns me today
Maybe you'll find out
Maybe you'll break
Maybe you'll end up just like the way you are today

I thought I told you, I don't need the headache

Why are you so pathetic, try,
And you just might get it
It's come to this end and now I'm sick of it,
I can't stand the habit,
You just can't have it
Maybe you'll find it's come to it's end
And now I'm sick of it
