"Lame"

They dragged me from the bar
Still wet from sweat and beer.
I bruise so prettily from men blinded by their fear.
These men broke my back and made me lame.
And then she said to me,
"I'd give you everything to make it like before,
To make you love me like you used to,
Make you love me more."
She said to me, "Your life is large but your mind is lame."
I can't believe my eyes.
No, I can't believe my eyes
When I see the truth of all these things I've done.
Every place I'm queer, I never stay, I run.
I know why I live in shame.
Lame, lame, lame.
Now I live in shame.
Lame, lame, lame.
It's hard to sleep at night.
I hardly ever sleep at night.
