fear your thoughts, fear your thoughts, fear your thoughts fear your thoughts is what we are taught fear the gods that are worn and jaded watched by our own minds fear the eyes that we created

I can't stop to breathe until the walls, the walls, the walls are coming down
I can't make believe that this is all because what's lost cannot be found
I can't stop to sleep until the walls, the walls, the walls are painted red
the only time you ever walked on water was to stand atop my head

no real rights, thoughts, or ideas just safety proof lives for safety proof minds no sin, no nonsense, time to break free no worries left about your immortality, go someone's watching, someone's watching, someone's watching you close your eyes and fear the gods

cannot be found
I can't stop to sleep until the walls, the walls, the walls
are painted red

thoughts, fear your thoughts
