Was your wish that I hadn't seen you
When they came to take you away?
Was your wish that I would believe you
To make you stop and make you stay?

Did you think that I'd never leave you
That I'd be there from dusk till day?
Did you think that I'd always save you
And carry you on my arms to the far away?

And how can you deny me hope and
And how we should rise to see you walk the water?
Can you deny my hopes when
'Cause all you really did was just to make it hurt?

Did you think of all the blame that you left me with?
Did you think of all the guilt that I now feel?
I thought that I was close as someone ever get
I was so wrong to think that I knew you

So now I relive that moment everyday
Asking forgiveness for the things that I never got to say
And how will I ever rid the thoughts
Or even make them fade away?

How can you deny me hope and
And how we should rise to see you walk the water?
Could you forsake all hope to fail
And all you really ever achieved was to make me fall into the water?

And how could you give up the chance to make this work again?
And why 'cause all you really did was to just make us
fall into the water
Would you not offer me the chance to prove I've changed?
And how 'cause all you really did was just to make us
fail
