"Without Your Smile"

I get back home and you're gone,
Step inside and it's cold,
I've been away so long,
This feels wrong.

Being without your smile feels wrong.
I've been without your smile too long, too long.

Feelings lie on the floor,
Thinking nothing at all,
Put my hand to the door,
Switch the light on the wall,

But I do notice,
Just one thing I miss,
What I know is this

Being without your smile feels wrong.
I've been without your smile too long, too long.

(come back home, come back home, whoa)

Being without your smile feels wrong
I've been without your smile too long, too long,
Too long, too long, too long, too long, too long, too long, too long
