If you want the pleasure
You need strength to take the pain
And on your way to sanity
You'll sometimes feel insane

You have been so sure
There was no cure
So you and I did not even try
To find out why we've not got far

If you want the function
Better learn to ignore the form
And what you call normality
Is completely against the norm

You say and do things
That to no-one but me make sense
So who, if not us,
Could ever really have a chance

If you climb my walls, then I will climb yours
If you show effect, then I will be the cause
Then help to make "us", what used to be "you and me"
One day you will, I am absolutely positive

If you break my circles, then I will break yours
If you are the river, then I'll be the source
So down there we float, until we will reach the sea
One day we will, I am absolutely positive

You never make a choice
Although the choice is yours to make
You say you have no chance
Although the chance is yours to take

There ain't no use complaining
It's always raining in your life
It's you who brought that rain
And only you can make it stop

If you climb my walls, then I will climb yours

If you show effect, then I will be the cause
Then help to make "us", what used to be "you and me"
One day you will, I am absolutely positive

If you break my circles, then I will break yours
If you are the river, then I'll be the source
So down there we float, until we will reach the sea
One day we will, I am absolutely positive
