It's not enough to be what you wanted
Stuck in love, fighting your way out
Your strings attached to all my limbs
And I know your about to let me down, down

Let me tell you
Leave behind you
Never ends, never ends

If you have the nerve just to walk away
Then kill me with the words you didn't say
Finish what you started
Push until you feel I'm about to break
Littering into pieces of what you take
Just finish what you started
So we can do it again

I know it's bound to happen
The road you take leads right back to me, me
Your pill gets hard to swallow
Each time I hear what you have to say, say

That you're sorry that you left me
Once again, once again

If you ever learn to just walk away
Then kill me with the words you didn't say
Finish what you started
Push until you feel I'm about to break
Littering into pieces of what you take
Just finish what you started
So we can do it again

So pick it up
Right back where you left off
Say the things you know will turn me on
You speed up... then your gone
But everything you get
You'll get just like I won

If you ever learn to just walk away
Then kill me with the words you didn't say

Finish what you started
Push until you feel I'm about to break
Littering into pieces of what you take
Just finish what you started
So we can do it again

If you ever learn to just walk away
Then kill me with the words you didn't say
Finish what you started
Push until you feel I'm about to break
Littering into pieces of what you take
Just finish what you started
So we can do it again...
