So many times own when I thought I could stand only made me naive and young short of a man falling a away on a another false story

Further away from the path of glory

Hurling down the road without victory blind with rage

This child that couldn't see everything that was waiting for you and me

The answer is inside myself that where my heart should be

How wrong to think that we could even be God the helpless wallow in hate when they've been barred with disbelief from that which we despise we'll have to God before His eyes

One's own self there is no answer

Internal struggle that feeds as cancer
To many things to be are now known as true but heart and mind and soul is truth inside of you and how alone we stand in our own end the voice inside our own head is not our own best friend questions start and the tearing then begins another vicious circle that you know will never lend out a hand of help from this abyss a thousand times the words from our own lips could be the only thing even help us walk in light breaking the chains that will bind this sheltered life with disbelief is something that must be taught

This crutch is something that was meant to be fought

One's own self there is no answer

Internal struggle that feeds as cancer

Our own dismay is after-math

Submit and heed or suffer the wrath

Come to grips with facts that we can not change anything that our God has arranged in this life through all persecution He offers us this one solution submit and heed and he'll do his work denial of our self is our self we hurt because his love is something abound to fill the ears with a glorius sound that comes down in the backing of authority inhabitor to the temple is what we'll be with the love of the Father dwells upon your side

There is nowhere to run and nowhere to hide

One's own self there is no answer

Internal struggle that feeds as cancer

Submit and heed or suffer the wrath

One's own self (6x)
