Sunrise and everything tries again
To muster up the courage all in
Once again a simple fact
All I have to nourish

That all things are possible
(Imaginations never end)
All worlds collide
(You don't know where)
(And you can't say when)

All roads are cross-able
(An itch to which you must attend)
Leave all your fear on the other side
And if you feel like you could use a friend
Then here's what I'd recommend

Dare we to dream, let alone live it
It can feel like quicksand
Take every ounce of strength you give it

But the only thing worse would be
To leave it just lying there
The simple fact leaves me
Only all too aware

That all things are possible
(Imaginations never end)
All worlds collide
(You don't know where)
(And you can't say when)

All roads are cross-able
(An itch to which you must attend)
Leave all your fear on the other side
And if you feel like you could use a friend
Then here's what I'd precisely recommend
You have only your hand to extend

Reach out to me, reach out to me, reach out to me
Like the summer reaches out for the rain
I will not let go until you tell me so

And squeeze as tightly as you want through the pain

All things are possible
(Imaginations never end)
All worlds collide
(You don't know where)
(And you can't say when)

All roads are cross-able
(An itch to which you must attend)
Leave all your fear on the other side
And if you feel like you could use a friend

All things are possible
(Imaginations never end)
All worlds collide
(You don't know where)
(And you can't say when)

All roads are cross-able
(An itch to which you must attend)
Leave all your fear on the other side
And if you feel like you could use a friend
Then here is what I would precisely recommend

Reach out your hand out to me, my friends
Hey, you have only your hand to extend
Yeah, yeah, yeah
