Crush me softly or cradle me hard
And the more I wanted, was the scariest part A measure of control, well not this time
And I wanted to learn so, I claim the lesson as mine

The politics of lasting just a little bit longer is the art of living every day
That which doesn't kill you only makes you stronger
until it finally kills you all the way
You take every action and apply the math
You could reap the rapture or risk the wrath
And if you rate the reasons, then the best ones lose
And all that means is, you got no excuse

The politics of lasting just a little bit longer is the art of
living every day
And that which doesn't kill you only makes you stronger
until it finally kills you all the way

Harmonica powers reactivate

I gonna pull up stakes, gonna try again Do whatever it takes to draw you in It's what I am and it's all I know Like the carnie man, you gotta work the show

The politics of lasting just a little bit longer is the art of
living every day
That which doesn't kill you only makes you stronger
until it finally kills you all the way
