

Everybody Else Wins "Notice The Unnoticed"

Iâ've been searching for something precious to hold
And Iâ've traveled all of these maps and these globes
And nothing can compare to you at least not in this latitude

Scream my name. . .
Say it . . . Say it out Loud!
Scream my name. . .
If you care then scream it

I held it right in the palm of my hand but I lost it along with my innocence

And this brilliant dance your so elegant am I elegant in this elegance

Step by step I slide to left > during solo
I fall apart for nothing more than you

Iâ've been searching for something precious to hold
And I found it among these maps and these globes
