I know you're down again and you see nothing but rain You put your friends through hell and that's why we get along so well

You see, I always was your girl

It always will be you and me against the world

We know, the years can give romance to the street where we once lived

You wondered why no one called between you and me, we scared them all

You see, I always was your girl

It always has been you and me against the world

Maybe we're wrong and the world is right but don't tell me that, tonight

Self-assured and abusing guests, that's the way I like you best

You see, I always was your girl

It always will be you and me against the world

You see, I always was your girl

It always will be you and me against the world
