Don't say one thing one day
Then something else the next day
I'm trying to keep up with you
It's hard enough when you speak clearly
But when you're confused
It's like a goods train running through these rooms

And I'm reading more into your words than you have put into them
And that's my problem but you tied these knots
Now you undo them, you undo them
Oh, and think before you speak my darling

'Cause with your troubled mind
You're like a goods train running through my life
With your troubled mind
You're like a goods train running through my life

We all walk through this world alone
We keep ourselves untouched, unknown
You look up to the sky above you
Read this there, I love you
Oh, it's written there
You know I love you, love you, love you, love you

With your troubled mind
You're like a goods train running through my life
With your troubled mind
You're like a goods train running through my life

And when you're down, you bring it down too
And babe, that's something I would not do
I know it's hard, yeah, I know it's hard
And babe, that's something I don't disregard, I don't disregard

With your troubled mind
You're like a goods train running through my life, my life
With your troubled mind
You're like a goods train running through my life

With your troubled mind
You know I love you, love you, love you, love you
With your troubled mind
You know I love you, love you, love you, love you

With your troubled mind
You're like a goods train running through my life, my
With your troubled mind
You know I love you, love you, love you, love you
