Look through the window
And take a moment to breath
The words in the air
Are trying to explain

That the shadow and the light
Won't unite until you decide
It won't be this day
It won't be this way...

(And with no choice left, I will take a
Breath and leave all those memories under
The water...)

(Why do you have to leave now? I am not ready
For this burden, I am not ready for this. This Is just a dream, This is not the end)

(Finally the truth, this is the moment
I've been waiting for, you thought I was Drowned... dead, but everything will change
From now on)

(I don't know who you are anymore, I just Don't know who you are!)

(I know the dark darkens your sun
And in the dark everyone loses control
That demons from yesterday demand their Way today, don't be afraid, this is your life...
Live!)

There was a time you had my heart
And the days never ended
This is the reason why I've been absent
For too long

There was a time you had my heart
And it's time for me to move on
There is no turning back cause
This is who you are... this is who you are... now

This is who you are now...
