"Wounded Eyes"

In deserted times the eyes are hovering ripping the veils of life Capturing the light reflecting sedate waters in the sphere of destiny
My life is flowing slowly scaring the wounded souls which has been forgotten in the swirl of death

Comparing the abyss with dying feeling the chaos in darkness.
Silver leaves are falling down upon the empty heart.
That's unaware of the coming of death which destroyed the sky I was looking at changing night into day.
Endless fight of time with time

[Chorus:]
Every night is bringing the silent of death and emptiness like a distant echo of my deserted times.
Every brand new morning life becomes a denial
I dare to touch the sky with my wounded eyes

It's dawning for those who have no today's and yesterday's who only have tomorrow to live or die

[Chorus]
