"I Can See A Heart"

night falling on you feel your light falling on me now light moving away watch a chance slipping away

there's sadness around but look what's been found still I know that you just cannot stay I can see a heart
alone

night falling on me
see a light dying in you but tread softly away
let the night take you today

it's not hard to see the things you might be but I know that you're turning away shining through your cracks
again
shining through your cracks
again
I can see a heart
alone
I can see a heart
alone
I can see a heart
alone
I can see a heart
alone
