Where has it gone?
All I have known and all I can say is, is this really You?
And is this my recompense for all my ignorance?
When will I see, what You see in me?

You are much more to me than the God I thought you to be
And through all of this, yeah, through all of this I see
That through all this You have always been with me

Every now and then looking at my sin
I try hard to say, what is and isn't true Loosing all my sense, all in my defense Finds me in a place being chased by You

You are much more to me than the God I thought you to be
And through all of this, yeah, through all of this I see

That through all this You have always been with me

Knocked out to the ground feeling like I'm going down Looking for a place to land, hoping that it's in the sand Knowing that I need You near, wishing that I wasn't here
Take me where I need to be, a place where I am not so weak

You are much more to me than the God I thought you to be
And through all of this, yeah, through all of this I see
That through all this You have always been with me

You are much more to me than the God I thought you to be
That through all this You have always been with me
