My sweet love your beauty even through death still shines
We came to light - too early I have to close your eyes
The hours of pleasures I never counted, I never counted
My presence is almost delusive

All those loving things I never meant
I tried so hard to keep your illusions aglow
You degenerated world of thoughts
So, if you want me, here I am
If you want me, here I am

It's mighty pretty - that's a part of me
Something cruel and unforgiving
Something cruel and unforgiving
A little lonesome - a little bit sad
I try to wrap myself around you like winter-skin

Every time I close my eyes
I see the dark side of your heart
Every time I try to catch your love
And my soul falls apart

My heart was kind the day we met
You stole my breath with your eternal kiss
And every vision lost the color...
All the colors through your touch

Every time I close my eyes
I see the dark side of your heart
Every time I try to catch your love
And my soul falls apart

Round and round the circles closing, round and round he touched her soul...
Heaven is crying and all the snowflakes try to cover her fragile soul...

To free your soul is all I ever wanted
To vanquish the darkness in your life, the darkness in your life
You know the coldness will cut us like a knife
So, if you want me, here I am
If you want me, here I am

I know why you wanna go on sleeping
There's a beast inside your mind, a beast inside your mind
Hurting you, hunting you and getting out of control
So, if you want me, here I am
If you want me, here I am

Round and round the circles closing
Round and round he touched her soul...
Heaven is crying and all the snowflakes
Try to cover her fragile soul...

Every time I close my eyes
I see the dark side of your heart
Every time I try to catch your love
And my soul falls apart

My heart was kind the day we met
You stole my breath with your eternal kiss
And every vision lost its color...
All the colors through your touch

Every time I close my eyes
I see the dark side of your heart
Every time I try to catch your love
And my soul falls apart
