I'm here all alone and I'm watching the sky.
I don't want to die but I have to resign.
I've lost the fight against destiny.
I thought I could change the curse of time,
But I was unable so I walked the line
between good and evil for so many years.
I shed too much tears.
Now I'm stranded here, disappointed and weak.
I lost all my friends but their voices still speak
of courage and hope, but I'm too tired to try.
I'm living a lie.
I wait for the rain, I wait for the dawn.
I pray every night not to be alone.
I wait for the morning that will never come.
I am undone.
I wait for the rain, I wait for the dawn.
I pray every night not to be alone.
I wait for the morning that will never come.
I am undone.
I thought I could change the curse of time,
But I was unable so I walked the line
between good and evil for so many years.
I shed too much tears.
Now I'm stranded here, disappointed and weak.
I lost all my friends but their voices still speak
of courage and hope, but I'm too tired to try.
I'm living a lie.
I wait for the rain, I wait for the dawn.
I pray every night not to be alone.
I wait for the morning that will never come.
I am undone.
I wait for the rain, I wait for the dawn.
I pray every night not to be alone.
I wait for the morning that will never come.
I am undone.
