Take me away - I look at my wristwatch
Just as always, a long silence finds me
The approaching train passes me by
I live with the belief that the next one will come when this one passes

If I opened my eyes for half the day, I am walking alone like yesterday
That's not a big deal - I'm scared of meeting you
As I'm walking alone through the memories

Oh (Oh) Are you hurting as much as me? Can't you look back at me first?
I'm standing opposite of you but I'm not over you

The shadow walking ahead of me beckons me
That narrow street corner takes me there (I follow it)
I still clearly see the two people standing there
Anyone can see that they're so beautiful - they look pretty happy

If I opened my eyes for half the day, I am walking alone like yesterday
That's not a big deal - I'm scared of meeting you
As I'm walking alone through the memories

Oh (Oh) If only I can turn back time
I wouldn't have divided our memories or walked the other way
I'm not over you

Oh, you're not by my side but
Oh but you're still in me
Oh, the skies are clear again today
Oh, but rain falls in my eyes, oh

The memories are so sad
They remind me that it's not now but it's the past

Oh Oh Oh Oh Oh
