You're saying nothing
And you're keeping quiet
But I know something is wrong

You just keep smiling
But your smiles are lying
It's obvious something is wrong

And each time you cry
Each time you cry
Each time you cry
It feels just like something is dying

I'm pretty useless
I drive you crazy
All I can hear is the blood in my ears

I don't deserve you
I'm selfish and I'm lazy
I guess I've been that way for years

That's why each time you cry
Each time you cry
Each time you cry
It feels just like something is dying

Well I'm much older now than my father was
By the time he'd said all he had to say
I guess that having more time just gives you more ways
For you to go a stray, loose your way

Well I don't think that you
Would be so unhappy
If you knew the way that you made me feel

Well I don't think there's anyone that's better than
You
And I know you'll never feel that way about me

And each time you cry
Each time you cry

Each time you cry
It feels just like something is dying
