Ezio

"Marina"

Visit "Marina" on MotoLyrics.com

Hello Marina where have you been
And where is it you have just come from
You've showed yourself off to the world through a
Screen
Doing things that you should be ashamed of
But don't worry they'll never know
That you, you are the star of the show
You got lost in the crowd

Hello Marina and who did you leave?
Is there someone still waiting for you?
Is he counting the seconds and is he starting to greave
The memory of that girl he once knew?
But don't worry he'll never know
That you, you are the star of the show
You got lost in the crowd

This world is too big

This world is too big

This world is too big it's too loud

Hello Marina he's forgotten you're name
And he can't remember the password
So I don't think you'll ever see him again
There are so many distractions
That it's absurd
So don't worry he'll never know
That he, he was the star of the show
But he got lost in the crowd

Because this world is too big

This world is too big

This world is too big it's too loud