We were seventeen
But everything
Still seems so clear to me
Whispering, and watching falling stars
From my beat up car
(I was falling, falling, I was falling)

In the parking lot,
Almost ten o' clock
We went for one last walk
I couldn't stop,
Thinking if I should try,
A kiss goodbye
(I was falling, falling, I was falling)

I'll wait forever
It's better late than never
Can't forget her
Like a movie in my mind keeps on playing
Over and over
Wanna hold her again,
I'll wait forever

Time goes by
But still I find
I can't keep you off my mind
A broken piece,
Of me I left behind
When you were mine
(I was falling, falling, I was falling)
Our last embrace
Those perfect tears
Fell down your perfect face
Your lips said words
That I just can't erase
Was this a waste?
(You were falling, falling, you were falling)

I'll wait forever
It's better late than never
Can't forget her
Like a movie in my mind keeps on playing

Over and over
Wanna hold her again,

I kept her letter in my wallet,
And her picture in my phone
She had our favourite song set as her ringtone
We had everything we wanted,
Until we let it slip away,
But we both know some things will never change

Time goes by,
But still I find,
I can't keep you off my mind

I'll wait forever
It's better late than never
Can't forget her
Like a movie in my mind keeps playing
Over and over
Wanna hold her again,
I'll wait forever (Forever)
It's better late than never
I'll wait forever (Forever)
Like a movie in my mind keeps playing (Forever)
(Forever) Over and over
(I'll wait forever)
I'll wait forever (Forever).
