'Neath your feet you feel the world is shaking
And your dreams slowly sifting thro' your hand
But there's a place you'll never be forsaken
I'm a warm fire burning, not a candle in the wind.

Life can be a silver river winding
With the dark side awaiting 'round the bend
But for you, a light is always shining
'Cause I'm a warm fire burning, not a candle in the wind.

Chorus:

And I'll be waiting here with arms that ache to hold you
Till forever turns around and starts again
Should you need someone who'll never harm you
I'm a warm fire burning, not a candle in the wind.

Chorus:

And I'll be waiting here with arms that ache to hold you
Till forever turns around and starts again
Should you need someone who'll never harm you
I'm a warm fire burning, not a candle in the wind...
