Sometimes,
It just take a little breeze,
To bring back all these memories,
Written in my skin.

Sometimes,
It feels like some one cut the ropes,
And I see all my happy hopes,
Blowing in the wind.

RIT: But I never will forget these days,
When we were dancing in the summer rain,
Just you and me together,
All the bless and pain,
Dancing in the summer rain,
I wish it would last forever,
I can hardly wait, until we meet again.

Sometimes,
I fall into the dream machine,
And dream that you'd come back to me,
Way out from the blue.

Sometimes,
I have to stop the sidle road,
Cause I forgot which way to go,
That leads ma back to you.

RIT: But I never will forget these days,
When we were dancing in the summer rain...

In some hot summer nigh,
I will follow the light,
That shines, in your eyes.
You're the ocean of time; I will stand in light,
To see you smile.

RIT: Bt I never will forget these days...

Dancing in the summer rain.
