We're ready to go

Ticking like a bomb that's about to blow

It's taking control

Pulling at your feet like an undertow

You don't really know
If you're all that capable

But you've been told

Don't pretend you're stupid

Sort it out

Go make yourself useful

You're better than dead

You really made a mess with the words you said

So easily fed
The flames of the fire rise above your head

They want to be led
You've joined the ranks instead

There's a voice in your head

I can't figure it out

Any more than the generation before me

I can't figure it out

How we got where we are today

I can't figure it out

Any more than the generation before me

I can't figure it out

We've got to fight not to fade away
