Taste of the life, devour your soul
Your boys are now numbers raising the toll
You think you're a victim, societies leech
Sinned all your existence, white powder you preach
Violence to gain, history's excuse
When all along it's the path you choose
For you are the one whom the media sings
Soon you will see the color of your wings
Superior race, professional hate
You lost your chance, too little too late
Your fallen leader to whom you serve
Fanatics get what fanatics deserve
Hating the world, idea that you eat
You follow your icon who tasted defeat
True angel of death your future brings
Soon you will see the color of your wings
It must be that it got to me
I can't take it anymore
Rage and hatred funning free
God only knows what we have in store
A terrible time a vicious crime
Five billion people stand in line
Just to see what will never be
The need to hate worth so much more
We don't discriminate, we hate everyone
Fuck you and your history and your black Miss America
Discriminate against all other skins
Cause you know your justice is below the law
White trash little nazi shit conformists one and all
If you could think through your bald ass head
You might think for yourself God help us all
Red, white, and black you're just a man
Don't make you right and us all wrong
So here's to all you racists fucks
For inspiration to my song
Kill for religion, no remorse
Your wars are unholy, and so is your source
Fanatic derision, vague deceit
It won't be your God when you die that you meet
Political lie, hatred you sell
You sand sucking fucker you're going to hell
Taunt the great Satan so feel how she stings

Soon you will see the color of your wings
