Even if it make you want to stop and stare
You'd be better off if you were unaware
Everybody wants to see that it's not them

Focused and unaffected
You'll get what you expected

You're boring and predictable
Doesn't everybody want to get their hands
On everything that they desire?
I know you're not afraid
And I know exactly what you want to be

Even still you want to take what you can't get
You'd be better off if you could just forget
There isn't anyone who lives without regret

So it seems to be that no one really cares
And so the struggle to achieve the lion's share
And I know what you are
I'm not what you are
