You've Got a Problem
So what's the problem now this time?
I thought you knew by now that nothing ever works out right
You wanna take away the edge
You tell me it's the only thing that helps you to forget
You made your promises
It's not workin' out this time
There's only so much you can squander from a feeble
mind
You've got a problem with your life
Life
You've got a problem with your life
You've got a problem with your mind
Don't try to tell me that you think it's gonna work out fine
So go ahead and try to lie
The world around you watches only to destroy your life
To what your problem says
There's not alot of time

There's only so much you can squander from a feeble
mind
You've got a problem with your life
Life
You've got a problem with your life
Life
Yu've got a problem with your life
Life
You've got a problem with your life
Life
You've got a problem with your life
Life
You've got a problem with your life
Life
