It is your turn to throw the dice again
Make up your mind and move your piece ahead
What would you say if I bend the rules a bit
Come on and play this mindless game

And when it all comes down to make a choice,
To look ahead, what are you waiting for?
You can't predict what happens next, so thinking is losing

Digging your way through endless energy
Try to avoid the negativty
Building up strength and try to break it down
Carry on through, this game is made for you

And when it all comes down to make a choice,
To look ahead, what are you waiting for?
You can't predict what happens next, so thinking is

You think you've won. well think again

You try so hard, now what's the plan
When all is lost, use your trust

Trust on what you feel
Don't be scared to lose it all
Grab the steering wheel
Never fear to trip and fall
Trust on what you feel
Pay no attention to regret
Grab the steering wheel
Try to create a filter inside your head

And when it all comes down to make a choice,
To look ahead, what are you waiting for?
You can't predict what happens next, so thinking is

You think you've won. well think again
You try so hard, now what's the plan
Don't be afraid of what's inside

What's from within can't be denied
