Man, it's been a long time
Since you walked into this night never easy
Straying down a thin line
Relying on your eyes never wrong
You have chained yourself
To the game of fame
But you never were true
You have given up in the name of love
But it never was you
Man on the moon trust in yourself
Wait til the night goes by
It will never be easy but time moves on
And love survives
The torch you kept like nothing
Its coming down burning low
As you're drifting
Come on and let it shine now
There's just one way to go for your kind
Youve known it all the time
Man on the moon trust in yourself
Wait til the night goes by
It will never be easy but time moves on
And love survives
Love will survive
Man on the moon trust in yourself
Wait til the night goes by
It will always be different
And love survives
Love survives
Break through teh circles of time
Rise on and light up the skies
Fly shine on your light
