The walls of my myth are closing in
Past a twenty year rebellion
And the song comes back again
I am a man and my blood is still running strong
We didn't realize we'd all live so long
When I revive my once youth nation
A Relic Song for the new generation
Another year and the bolder I stay bound
Punk Rock, Ultra-dark, Old School, Underground.
Corporate "punk" stars manufactured screaming
Miming our lyrics stripped of all their meaning
I may revive my once youth nation
A Relic Song for the new generation
The walls of my myth are crashing down
Past a twenty year rebellion
And the song comes back around
One step forward and two steps back
An old look, an old sound dressed new for the amnesiac
When I relive my Punk generation
A Relic Song for the Fad youth nation
For my crimes I may not be remembered
The Noble Primitive hardcore disrespected
I am a man - the world is alive
I am a man - the future's on fire
More than any man I am
I may revive my Punk generation
A Relic Song for the Fad youth nation
One step forward and two steps back
Things are looking up
Things are looking up
Things are looking up
