lately i see got the sorrow in your eyes i can taste the truth every time we kiss im going crazy acting like there is nothing wrong

is there something tha you want to know always something that its still worth fighting for even if we have to go is there something that you want to reach you or there something that its mystery ill find ways to convince you to stay if you just tell me honestly please not like this

oh is there something that i want to know always something that's still worth fighting for if you just tell me ghonestly is there something left of you and me this time. this place misused mistakes too long too late who was i to make you awake coz you know, you know. you know that i love you i have love you all alone coz i miss you been far away from far too long i'd give for us give anything but i wont give up

coz you know, you know, you know, that i love you o have love all along
