The time is here, the time is right, I think I may, I know I might depart tomorrow morning on an airplane to success. I can tell you're unimpressed by my sudden burst of ambition.

So take it or leave it, that's all that I'm givin'. I won't say goodbye, no I won't say goodnight. I love you completely but nothing can keep me, no nothing can keep here, nothing can keep me!

In the nicest way I can think of saying this, you're too much for me. And we sit at a table with reservations about what we're supposed to do.

The time is here, the time is right, I think I may, I know I might depart tomorrow morning on an airplane to success. I can tell you're unimpressed by my sudden burst of ambition.

And by now I'm sure you are sick of hearing this, but you're too much for me. I'll leave that table with reservations about what I'm supposed to be
