And they Said, They'll be there for you and never let you down

Maybe your just afraid, happens to much this time
don't let them

Double cross you, they don't deserve you
The hourglass ticks away, streetlight fades to gray

Everytime They Come around they say
They want the best always
But you know that they're not right
Tearing you up from inside
And I hope that there is another away
To pretend Everything Will be ok
They're not who you think they are
Best friends mean more than scars.

There you go again, What happens once, happens twice
Such a disaster, Your such a mess in your own ingnorance
Please honey just settle down, settle down
All You need is to come around, come around Forget the memories, this is not the way, not the way it should be

Always, always

Everytime They Come around they say
They want the best always
But you know that they're not right
Tearing you up from inside
And I hope that there is another away
To pretend Everything Will be ok
They're not who you think they are
Best friends mean more than scars.

Why can't I go away with you
I don't know why, can't we pull through (Just want to rescue you 4x)

Everytime They Come around they say
They want the best always

But you know that they're not right
Tearing you up from inside
And I hope that there is another way
To pretend Everything Will be ok
They're not who you think they are
Best friends mean more than scars.

Bright lights today
Bright lights today
Bright lights today
My heart will go on without you
