You look in the mirror
Ask who is standing there
You don't recognize
Even yourself
Your life is all gone
All your good friends have flown
Your world is falling down
As you cry in your room
The world is standing by Holding you in the doom

You cry to yourself
Trying not to fall
As this feeling inside, this feeling so cold
Take your heart and your soul
Humans falling like snow
Destroying their lives
Destroying their world
Forgiveness fades away
From it bursting our blood

Chorus
With angel's tears
You conquer the world
By some stranger's fears
You're a prisoner hold
With angel's tears
You cry for the human race
Wait for a holy bless
You can't change the world

You close you eyes
And think of all that you've done
Where are your friends? The vanished, they're gone
There's nothing to find
When there's nothing to hide
With so many problems
There are so many sins
With an unconscious touch
Put an end to the dream

Now you have the scars
Of so many battles
Ones you've won one's you've lost
But you finally got
All you always wanted
For the people around you
Love and hope
Would they always remember
You?

Repeat Chorus

You open the window
Take a look at the streets
Can you still be alive? Maybe your heart beats?
As you see emotions dying
You think that you're flying
Golden wings on your back
Heading to Paradise
And the world starts to die
As you kiss it goodbye

Repeat Chorus
