Hey did you just hear the news.

What?

SU I CIDE.

Everytime I watch the news, I hear of Suicide. We live in a suicidal world. Everywhere I turn there is suicide. It is spreading like a disease and only there is no fucking cure.

I'm trying to find my friends but now I have found that they too have fallen under the effects of suicide. I have now found the love of my life, my soul mate. I walk into her place one day to find that she had slit her wrist. There is blood all over the floor. I go out and cry. In my pocket I pull out a broken piece of glass and I slit my throat. Suicide has taken another life.
